Transformational Dreamwork – Worksheet
6 tools for Dreamwork – Bob Hoss, www.dreamscience.org (download)

Title the Dream: __________________________ Name: ______________ Date: ________________

Record the Dream or Dream Segment in the 1st person present tense as if you are re-experiencing it:

Life Situation: describe any emotionally important situations in your life at the time whether it seems to relate or not.

Part #1 - What Life Situation is the Dream Dealing With Tool #1 – Dream to Life Associations: does the dream metaphorically picture a waking life situation?

• Feelings – define your feelings in the dream? Is there a waking situation where you felt much the same?

• Metaphors: underline phrases and action themes that might also describe a waking situation/behavior/feeling.

• Memories: if something in the dream triggers a memory or it contains a person or setting from your past, recall one specific past emotional event that it brings to mind and relate it to your present situation.

• Associations: Define the function of key “things” that appear- or - personality characteristic of known figures.

Try Rewriting the Dream Story: Substitute some of the above associations for the images, things or characters in the dream story above – re-read it and see if the new story ‘connects’ in some way with your waking life story.

© Bob Hoss 2021, permission granted for dreamwork or training with reference to the author and www.dreamscience.org
Part #2 – Exploring the Underlying Emotions

Tool #2 – Give the Dream a Voice (role-play or “6 Magic Questions”): Re-enter the dream at an emotionally charged point and visualize the scene, noticing the characters and things around you. Try this with one or more of them.

2a - Pick a Dream Image X: that curiously draws your attention (even if not a dominant one):

2b - Give it a Voice (role-play): Imagine ‘becoming’ X and try to sense how it feels in its role or situation in the dream. Then imagine how X (in that dream role) would answer these questions (1st person present - see italics).

1) What are You and how do you Feel in that Role? I am a............and I feel............
   Note: if X is a known person, as that person describe your personality; how you are like and unlike the dreamer.

2) What is your Purpose or Function? My purpose is to........

3) What do you Like about being X? What I like is............

4) What do you Dislike about being X? What I dislike is............

5) What do you Fear most (as X), the worst thing that can happen? What I fear most is ............

6) What do you Desire most (as X)? What I desire most is ............

7) Dialog (optional): as X What would you tell the dreamer? You ......need to, might, are, etc.....

2c - Relate to YOUR waking life: now switch perspectives and read each statement as if it is YOU saying it about something in YOUR life - note any that sound like a situation or feeling in your life. Do the ‘I like/dislike’ or ‘I fear/desire’ statement pairs sound like 2 sides of a conflict in your waking life. If X is a known person, how does their personality relate to your situation. Describe the situation and associated feelings/conflicts that come to mind:

Tool #3 – Exploring the Emotion in Color (use with the Color Questionnaire on the last page)

3a - What color was the dream image you worked on? Note any other colors in the dream that particularly stood out?

3b - Pick the closest color(s) in Questionnaire, read each statement for that color. Note any that sound like a recent feeling or situation of yours. Note: if the image or scene contains a pair of colors, explore the possibility that the 2 statements for those color might represent 2 conflicting emotions regarding a situation you are in.

3c - Describe a waking situation that the statement recalls, your feelings at the time, and how it relates to the dream.

Parts #1 &2 - Situation Summary
From the connections or insights (tools 1, 2, 3) summarize the situation and conflicts the dream appears to be dealing with.
Part #3- How is the Dream Attempting Resolution?

Tool #4 – Explore How the Dream is Attempting to Resolve Your Situation

4a – Archetypal Imagery – were archetypal imagery/patterns present indicating forces of conflict, integration of opposites, transformation, completion/wholeness (see attachment)? Do any seem to relate to patterns in your life?

4b – Did the dream introduce an Alternative approach or viewpoint which might provide a solution?
   - Guidance - a guiding figure or event (advice, alternative, discovery, written or verbal message)? Define the new direction or insight provided and how it changed your behavior or thinking in the dream.
   - Surprise - did something surprise you (unexpected twist/action/anomaly; discovery, insight; humor; person/thing acting opposite to their nature)? Define the difference from your expectation or viewpoint.
   - Decision - Did your dream-self (or something representing you) make or need to make a new decision or reverse or change its prior course, viewpoint or behavior? Describe the new decision, behavior or viewpoint.

Compare to Life – Can you see any analogies between the insight gained above and your waking situation, and how the implied (metaphoric) guidance, change in viewpoint, attitude or direction might be helpful?

Tool #5 – Active Imagination: If the dream ended negatively, inconclusively, or guidance above is uncertain, try this: Close your eyes and place yourself at the end of the dream; review your feelings and desires; spontaneously (don’t think just let the images flow) finish the dream with a new imagined ending that works out positively.

Compare to Life - Can you see an analogy to a solution in your waking life situation, conflict, attitude or beliefs?

Tool #6 - Action: Resolution and Next Steps

a) Define a Solution: Review the waking life analogies from tools #4 and/or #5. Define a specific solution to your waking life situation that the insight from the dream or dreamwork above might be suggesting.

b) Check it Out: is this a healthy, appropriate and practical solution, or does it leave you stuck again?

c) Next Steps: If it ‘checks out’ positively then what specific next step(s) can you take to bring it about?

d) Reminder Image: pick an image from the resolved ending as a reminder of your solution?
Tool #3 - Color Questionnaire

If a color stands out in the dream, try this tabular listing of emotional associations as a questionnaire. Read each statement for that color and note any you strongly "connect" with, that sound like they describe a feeling or situation in your life – then explore that situation as it relates to the dream. Do NOT use this as a symbol dictionary; the statements are not the “meaning” of color but are only intended to trigger your own dream-to-life emotional associations. They are a listing of common emotional themes found in waking research to be associated with the human unconscious response to color, by our neural systems (limbic and autonomic), which appear to retain those color-to-emotional associations in the dream state. They were derived from color psychology research and literature and Dr. Löscher’s color testing tool, augmented in parts by Jungian archetypal theory.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Color</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>RED</td>
<td>1) I feel intense, vital or animated; 2) I feel transformed; 3) I feel assertive, forceful; 4) I feel creative; 5) I want to live life to its fullest. 6) I want to win, succeed, achieve. 7) I am feeling sexy or am having sexual urges. 8) I have a driving desire. 9) I feel anxious. 10) I need something to make me feel alive again. 11) I need to be more assertive and forceful. 12) I need to get out and enjoy myself. Note: if red appears as an inflammation it could relate to a physical condition, illness or injury</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ORANGE</td>
<td>1) I want to expand my interests and develop new activities. 2) I want a wider sphere of influence. 3) I feel friendly and welcoming. 4) I want more contact with others. 5) I feel enthusiastic, outgoing and adventurous. 6) I am driven by desires and hopes toward the new, undiscovered and satisfying. 7) I feel driven but need to overcome my doubts or fear of failure. 8) I must avoid spreading myself too thin.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>YELLOW</td>
<td>1) I feel a sense of joy and optimism. 2) I feel alert. 3) I am seeking a solution that will open new and better possibilities and allow my hopes to be fulfilled. 4) I feel the new direction I am taking will bring happiness in my future. 5) I am hopeful. 6) I need to find a way out of this circumstance or relationship. 7) I need a change. 8) I am trying to compensate for my situation. 9) I am acting compulsively.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GREEN</td>
<td>1) I feel a creative energy. 2) I feel more safe or secure. 3) I need to increase my sense of security. 4) I feel a healing energy. 5) I need healing or better health. 6) I feel like withdrawing into my own center. 7) I need to establish myself, my self-esteem, my independence. 8) I want recognition. 9) I need to increase the certainty of my own value and status, through acknowledgment by others of my achievements (or possessions). 10) Hard work and drive will gain me recognition and self-esteem. 11) My opinion must prevail. 12) I must hold on to this view to maintain my self-esteem. 13) I want what I am due. 14) I must maintain control. 15) Things must not change.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BLUE</td>
<td>1) I feel tranquil, peaceful, content. 2) I feel a sense of harmony. 3) I feel a meditative awareness or unity. 4) I feel a sense of belonging. 5) I need rest, peace or a chance to recuperate. 6) I need a relationship free from contention in which I can trust and be trusted. 7) I need a peaceful state of harmony offering contentment and a sense of belonging.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>VIOLET</td>
<td>1) I like to win others over with my charm. 2) I feel an identification, perhaps a &quot;mystic&quot; union with something or someone. 3) I have a deep intuitive understanding of the situation. 4) I feel a sense of intimacy. 5) The feeling is erotic. 6) I seek a magical state where wishes are fulfilled. 7) I yearn for a &quot;magical&quot; relationship of romance and tenderness. 8) I seek to identify with something or someone. 9) I need intimacy. 10) I often engage in fantasy perhaps because I feel a bit insecure about the situation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BROWN</td>
<td>1) I seek a secure state where I can be physically comfortable and relax or recover. 2) I am uneasy and insecure in the existing situation. 3) I need a more affectionate environment. 4) I need a situation imposing less stress or physical strain. 5) I want to satisfy the physical senses (food, luxury, or sex). 6) If it is a Natural or Wood Brown try: a) I am concerned about matters of family, home, or my &quot;roots&quot;. b) I am concerned with a son or daughter. c) I am searching for my true self or natural state of being. Note: if it is a Dirty Brown: it can at times reflect a physical problem or illness.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GRAY</td>
<td>(Free of Color) 1) I want to shield myself from those feelings. 2) I feel emotionally distant, only an observer. 3) It is as if I am standing aside, watching myself mechanically go through the motions. 4) I want to remain uncommitted, non-involved, shielded or separated from the situation. 5) I do not want to make a decision that will require my emotional involvement. 6) I have put up with too much and wish to avoid any further emotional stimulation. 7) I am trying to escape an anxious situation. 8) I am compensating for something.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BLACK</td>
<td>(Negation of Color) 1) I am anxious and don't know why. 2) I am fearful of or intimidated by the situation. 3) I have been dealt an unacceptable blow. 4) Nothing is as it should be. 5) I refuse to allow it/them to influence my point of view. 6) I can't accept the situation and don't wish to be convinced otherwise. 7) I feel the need for extreme action. 8) I am in revolt perhaps to compensate for my situation. Jung (archetypal patterns): Black and Darkness often represents the unconscious realm. Moving into darkness can be suppression or moving into the unconscious, but also a turning within, or a “death of the ego” (first stage of transcendence). Beautiful Shiny Black might be a positive view of the unconscious offering from which a new self emerges.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WHITE</td>
<td>1) This is a new experience. 2) I'm becoming aware of new feelings. 3) I'm experiencing a new beginning, a reawakening a transformation. 4) I have a new outlook, a new awareness. 5) I feel pure and innocent. 6) I feel open and accepting. 7) I feel unprepared. 8) I feel alone, isolated. 9) It feels cold or sterile. Note: White grouping or mixing (pastels) with a color can sometimes be a transformation of the emotions represented by the color, adding a calming, a newness, an enlightenment, emergence or re-emergence of that emotion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PINK</td>
<td>1) I feel romantic or loving toward someone or something; 2) I am feeling very sensitive about something; 3) I feel nurturing and/or gentle; 4) I am feeling compassionate; 5) I am avoiding aggression or want to calm my aggressive feelings; 6) I need romance; 7) I need nurturing; 8) I need something to calm me down; 9) dealing with this feeling of assertiveness is new to me.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>COLOR GROUPS</td>
<td>Jung Archetypal patterns 1) The “primaries” may represent completion or a balancing of something within the personality. A missing color in the group may be associated with an emotional element missing from the dreamer’s life that is needed for closure. If one of the 4 is creating a problem in the dream, explore it as a problematic emotion in life. BLACK &amp; WHITE (Patterns) - may represent the forces of unification, an integration of conscious (light or white) and unconscious (dark or black) from which a greater self emerges; a unity of opposites; an internal change taking place. GOLD &amp; SILVER - Masculine (Gold) &amp; feminine (Silver) qualities arising from the unconscious as elemental forces influencing your situation or need of integration to balance the ego personality. Appearing as a pair can represent a process of integration.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Tool #4a Archetypal Imagery

Based primarily on the works of Carl Jung (suggested ref: Man and His Symbols), archetypal imagery may appear in a dream to represent the basic underlying psychological processes taking place. The imagery may be difficult to associate with a waking situation since it represents long-term unconsciously driven forces for personality growth. These unconscious forces are aimed at achieving an integrated and balanced personality (individuation), the “whole” individual you were meant to be (Jung). Although the names and quantity of “archetypes” can depend on what behavioral forces a particular author is focused on, there are four basic collective unconscious archetypes identified by Jung: 1) Persona/Ego – conscious personality state(s); 2) Shadow – forces of separation; 3) Anima & Animus – forces of integration; 4) the Self – organizing force toward becoming a balanced, “whole” individual. The following can appear to represent these 4 basic archetypes:

Persona and Ego (Conscious Self): personality (or ego state) that an individual projects to others at present
- Persona or Ego State – usually YOU the dreamer or someone you identify with in the dream (as opposed to other figures that populate the dream that are out there not integrated with the ego)
- Conscious states (available to conscious mind or part of the ego): often imagery to the right, above, in the light
- Unconscious states (not readily available to the conscious nor integrated with the ego): often imagery to the left, below, underneath, in darkness.

Shadow (an archetype of separation): aspects of yourself that are rejected, repressed, suppressed or unknown (yet to be experienced); often results in “projection” where something you dislike in yourself is something you dislike in another.
- Shadow: shadowy unknown or frightening figure (often emerging from left or darkness) or instinctive element (animal) that your dislike, is fearful, opposes you and that you feel you must master, overcome, or flee from.
- Suppression (conscious), Repression (unconscious) rejection of material incompatible with the conscious attitude – forced below or into darkness, contained, frozen; may be seen as emerging from below or darkness
- Conflict:
  - Pair of identical images (2 equal forces attempting dominance), twins, male or female pair, parallel lines

Anima & Animus (an archetype of integration):
- Male & Female pair: cultural pressure defines masculine and feminine norms and drives the ego to identify with our biological origins, leading to suppression of the opposite identity and behaviors in our personality – whereas a balanced integrated “whole” individual can readily access both as appropriate to the situation. The state of integration is pictured in dreams as the interaction of a Male and Female pair, your interaction with some (typically unknown) person of the opposite sex, or the balanced or imbalanced mix of male and female figures.
- Integration of Opposites (opposites attract like poles of a magnet): Male and Female or you and opposite sex - attraction, embracing, union; Geometric union of opposites - black/white patterns, horizontal & vertical (cross).

The SELF (archetype of transformation and “wholeness”)
- Self (as a guide): Wise and guiding aspect of the inner Self can appear as a guiding, powerful, divine, often elder, wise man or woman. Wise man or great father might appear as initiator, guardian, guru, ruler, father. The wise woman may appear as a priestess, sorceress, earth mother, or goddess of nature or love.
- Symbols of Transformation (personality change and growth):
  a) Compensation – actions/events introduced to show alternatives to the direction or attitude of the dreamer such as: guidance, words, surprise, anomaly, a trickster character, humor, insight, discovery, decision making.
  b) Symbolic Death and Rebirth cycle: images of death or descending under or into darkness (underground, cave, deep dark waters, sunset, winter) can represent going within the unconscious to begin a journey of transformation and eventual rebirth (child, spring, nature, sunrise, the great tree)
  c) Elements: Fire of transformation; Water – unconscious or emotional forces; Earth (return to unconscious instinctive roots) – caves, stone, wood, primitive animals; Air – can metaphorically relate to mind or spirit
  d) Great Tree -the naturally process of individuation often appears as the tree, who’s powerful involuntary growth fulfills a definite pattern (Jung); generally represents your state of inner growth.
  e) Geometric/Mandala Imagery: Triad or 3, equilateral triangle, 3 as part of a 4th; Spiral or spiral motion (ex: tornado) representing entering or emergence from the unconscious; Circular Movement such as a circle dance or spinning; Center – circle or circular movement with a central focal point (that which requires our focus for resolution); Squaring - movement in a square (cornering), parts of the whole such as ¼ or ⅛ or quarters;
- State of completion and wholeness (geometric):
  a) Completion or Solution (usually conscious realm): square shape, cube, “four-ness” or 4
  b) Wholeness (ultimate inner balance of whole self): Circle or Sphere
  c) Mandala shapes as a pattern for “wholeness” that incorporate the circle, triangle or square

© Bob Hoss 2021, permission granted for dreamwork or training with reference to the author and www.dreamscience.org